

Minimize Your Time, Expenses, and Stress Managing Contracts

LicenseHQ centralizes contract data, manages documents, and streamlines processes saving you time and money

Your Business License Headquarters

How Much Time Are You Wasting?

Many companies lack the tools to properly manage their contracts and agreements with customers, partners, vendors as well as all subsequent renewals. At a minimum, this shortcoming often results in considerable wasted time and stress, but it could also lead to more severe repercussions such as missed deadlines, penalties, additional fees, and lost revenue.

Are You...

- Fumbling around with paper files or spreadsheets to track important contract data
- Misfiling documents or losing data
- Failing to cancel contracts on-time resulting in additional fees
- Struggling to identify important information regarding contract terms without having to waste time locating and reading the actual document
- Wasting time deciding which of your business groups to contact regarding a contract
- Missing deadlines or cutting them too close for comfort
- Lacking visibility into the current status of contracts or their terms and lacking the ability to easily generate reports with such information for management

LicenseHQ Minimizes Time Spent on Contract Management and Your Exposure
